Testimony of Witness Is Repudiated

Charge Ex-Assistant Secretary of State Was Communist

NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP)—Writer Malcolm Cowley testified today at the Alger Hiss perjury trial that Whittaker Chambers had told him former Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre was head of the Communist apparatus in the department of state.

Cowley, a Sherman County resident, appeared as a surprise defense witness.

The statement was immediately repudiated by Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker, who said "Mr. Sayre was a completely loyal member of the government at all times."

Stryker explained in agreement with a comment by Judge Samuel U. Kaufman, that the writer's testimony was offered only to show that Chambers made inconsistent statements.

Miss Coplon is Still On The Witness Stand

Considered Visit To Russia in 1948, But Dropped Idea

By Karl R. Bauman

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Judith Coplon said today she considered visiting Russia in the spring of 1948, but dropped the idea.

John M. Kelley, Jr., a government prosecutor in his trial on charges of stealing government secrets to give to the Russians, drew out the story with a series of questions.

It was the sixth day for Miss Coplon on the witness stand and the third day in which she had been cross-examined by Kelley.

Kelley said he expects to complete his questioning of the 28-year-old former justice department political analyst before the end of the day.

Miss Coplon said she abandoned the thought of visiting Russia without applying to the Soviet embassy in Washington for a visa.

She had denied yesterday that she ever had any intention of going to Russia with Valentin A. Gribichyev, a Russian engineer with whom she was arrested March 4.

By Karl R. Bauman
WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Judith Coplon complained in near hysterical tones today that the government is not giving her full freedom to defend herself against espionage charges.

"I feel that I'm kept in a straitjacket," she shouted at John M. Kelley, Jr., government prosecutor.

"I would like for the jury to see the kind of man I did," she said, "and I would like to see the kind of man I am."

She also protested that Kelley kept asking her questions that she could not answer. "Yes," she said, "that was in explanation of why she made long speeches after almost every question."

Miss Coplon said she wanted the jury to see all the reports that she ever wrote because "I want the people to understand."

It Was Hot

Judith Coplon mows a perspiring brow after a session on the witness stand during her espionage trial. During the session she acknowledged that she spent two nights with a man in Philadelphia and Baltimore hotels. Her admission came during cross-examination by Prosecutor John M. Kelley, Jr. Miss Coplon, when first questioned about the trip to Philadelphia and Baltimore, shouted a denial, then said, "Why are you doing this in front of my mother?" She then admitted making the trip. Her mother was in the Washington, D. C. courtroom at the time. (AP Wire Photo)

Close Vote Expected On Labor

In Senate Whether To Keep Injunction Provision Against Critical Strikes

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Both its friends and foes today predicted a close Senate vote on whether to keep the Taft-Hartley law's injunction provision against critical strikes.

Backers of the injunction won a pair of preliminary victories last week when the Senate soundly defeated two other plans for dealing with strikes which threaten the national welfare.

But the Senators in that pre-injunction group said they are keeping their fingers crossed. And those opposed to the injunction said they declared they still are in the running.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.) one of those against the Taft-Hartley provision, put it this way:

"A close vote is going to be very close, and I think we have a chance to beat the injunction."

On the other side, Senator George (D-Ga.) said:

"I think those of us who want to retain the injunction have a slight edge, but the vote is going to be very, very close."

In yesterday's balloting, the Senate first rejected, 55 to 37, the Douglas-Aiken plan for handling national emergency labor disputes. It calls for authorizing government seizure of struck for up to 90 days.

Peculiar Situation
Because of a peculiar parliamentary situation, that plan was due for a second vote, perhaps today. But because expected to be quite a few votes on the second round, with the issue narrowed to a choice between seizure and the injunction.

After battling down the first round amendment offered by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.), and Aiken (R-Vt.), the Senate next swamped a national emergency plan sponsored by Senator Aiken (R-N. Y.). The vote was 67 to 13.

Under the Aiken amendment, Congress would have been required to deal separately with each critical strike.

Critical Over Salary Hikes

JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—(By Staff) Members of state officials were criticized in the Missouri Senate Wednesday.

Senator William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood and the salary bill were sweeping through the legislature like a chain reaction. He urged the Senate to go low in a period of falling prices.

City of Springfield, a bill of Senator C. R. Hawkins (R) of Bannockburn, which would give the people who pay the bill.

Senator E. M. Latta (R) of Bethany predicted that before the year is over the state will be operating at a deficit. This is no time to raise duties, he said.

Trisby said he never heard of any death of applicant for a life job despite alleged low salaries.

In spite of the demand for economy the Senate advanced 17-7 a bill to meet the salary of the state liquor control supervisor or from $1500 to $6000 a year.

Senator Edward V. Long (D) of Bowling Green and the governor had found it hard to get the record men to take the job. People enforcement of the liquor laws he predicted would only lead to prohibition or local option laws.

A bill to raise the pay of commissioners up to $1000 a year also was criticized. The criticism of a heavy bill's sponsor, Senator Harry J. Revercomb (D) of Shelbyville, finally withdrew it for another try later.

Also advanced to position for passage were bills to:

Decrease U. S. highway 50 as to cost.

Wilmington municipal highway.

Let county class cities issue revenue bonds for sewage systems.

Repeal the laws covering appeal from decision of administrative boards.

Names Group On Human Relations

ST. LOUIS, June 23.—(By Staff) Mayor Joseph P. Dore Wednesday appointed a 15-member council on human relations to advise the city government on matters affecting inter-racial activity.

The move followed a series of fights between whites and negroes in North St. Louis, which yesterday afternoon and last night at least 11 persons were injured in the fight.

The swimming pool at Fairmount Park, center of the clash and another pool, returned closed today. An order by Director of Public Welfare, John C. L. Monday, ordered the city-owned pool to both races, but Mayor Dore's order ended the order after the first reports of violence yesterday.

But all 15 Democrat 50-year-old lawyer was named temporary chairman of the new council.

Bitter Debate On Interest On Small Loans

House Is Against Rates Estimated 28 Per Cent Year

JEFFERSON CITY, June 23.—(AP)—The Missouri House stood fast Wednesday against interest rates estimated at 28 per cent a year on small loans.

The vote was 50 to 46 against a conference committee compromise. The measure must now go back to a conference between House and Senate members for another try at reaching an agreeable version of interest schedules by which all lenders would have to abide in making installment loans.

The vote came after nearly three hours of bitter debate.

The bill was described variously by opponents as "legalized thievery," a "disgrace to hell in its pinkest days," and a "filthy bit of legislation."

Rep. C. P. Turley (D) of Carter county said the rest of the nation is watching Missouri.

"Missouri is the battleground," he roared. "If Missouri proves that small loan companies can operate on lower rates than two or three or more per cent a month there'll be decreases in rates elsewhere."

The small loan companies are afraid of that, he declared.

Turley, majority floor leader in the Missouri House, was the author or of amendments which passed the House last month, setting the interest top at 18 per cent a year.

Rejected By House

The Senate came back with its own version, a maximum estimate between 20 and 32 per cent.

The House refused to accept that and the bill was thrown into conference committee.

For four years there has been no interest rates legal in Missouri above eight per cent a year.

Supporters of the bill have contended loan sharks are "running wild" in Missouri as a consequence and a small loan interest law is required.

The vote practically split the Democratic party while the minority Republicans seemed to give lower rates an edge in the voting.

Last week, Gov. Forrest Smith, a Democrat, sent letters to the ten members of the conference committee, urging them to settle on a reasonable interest rate schedule so Missouri would have a law.

Democrats against the 28 per cent version had expressed fear that the governor's letter might swing enough party members over so the higher rate might be adopted.

Several members spoke today of the possibility that former supporters of lower rates were swinging over.

"One by one they've left you and joined the other side, in favor of this legalized thievery," roared Rep. McGehee (D) of Wayne county.

The same thought was suggested by Turley.

"Before I'd let these loan sharks suck the life out of the poor people with these high rates, I'd stand here all alone and fight," he shouted.

All through the afternoon it was one by one that they left.

Scarcely a dozen members spoke on the measure but they all took close to the 15 minute maximum usually allowed in House debate.

Even the absent House speaker was taken to task by one of his Democratic colleagues.

McGehee noted that three of the House delegation to the conference committee voted for the 30 per cent top proposed by the Senate. A fourth member voted present on that bill, he said.

June 11 period, with amounts sold and percent of quota achieved include:

Arkansas, $4,902,000 and 72.3; Kansas, $14,418,000 and 74.9 per cent; Missouri, $25,202,000 and 78.1; Oklahoma, $9,715,000 and 67.7.

Autos Damaged In A Collision

Two automobiles were badly damaged about 8:15 o'clock Wednesday night in an accident on highway 50 south of the Drive-In theatre, but none of the occupants was seriously injured.

A 1941 Chevrolet coach driven and owned by George L. Winters, 1011 South Kentucky avenue, was struck in the rear by a 1940 Chevrolet coach driven by Miss Evelyn Romig, 16, 400 North Grand avenue. The car driven by Miss Romig is owned by her father, Lloyd Romig, 400 North Grand avenue.

According to Miss Romig she was driving west on the highway and started to pull out to go around the Winters car when she saw a car approaching from the west. She said she applied her brakes but too late to avoid striking the car ahead of her, which was that of Mr. Winters.

The left rear portion of the Winters car was smashed in and the car went into the ditch on the north side of the road, but did not overturn. The Romig car had the front end and the right front portion of the car badly smashed. The latter car nosed into a ditch on the south side of the highway neither did it overturn.

Mrs. George Winters, mother of the driver, received bruises and suffered shock. She was taken to the Bothwell hospital where she was treated by Dr. Gordon Stauffacher. Mrs. R. F. Hogan, Austin, Minn., a sister of Mr. Winters, was shaken up but not injured. Also in the Winters car were his wife and small child.

With Miss Romig were Miss Cynthia Correll, 1201 South Kentucky avenue, Lord and Burton, R. P. D. Sedalia, and Marjorie Scruton, 712 West Third street. None of the occupants of the Romig car was injured.

Bigger Pork Crop to Come

WASHINGTON, June 23—(AP)—Bearing out earlier forecasts of bigger pork supplies to come, an Agriculture Department survey today put the 1949 spring pig crop at 59,040,000 head. This is an increase of 15 per cent over last year's spring crop.

Spring pigs will provide the country's pork supply during the coming fall and winter.

The larger supplies of pork will be offset to some extent, however, by smaller supplies of beef and lamb.

At the same time the department forecast a 1949 fall pig crop of about 37,000,000 head. This compares with the 1948 fall crop of 37,995,000 head. Fall pigs will go to slaughter market in the spring and summer of 1950.

The survey supported predictions by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan that heavy fall and winter marketing of hogs may force producer prices below an average level of $16.50 for 100 pounds guaranteed by the government.

NEW STATE ON ASIA'S HORIZON—This map highlights the terms of the new French agreement which established the state of United Viet Nam in Indo China. Former Annam, Laotian and Cochinchina were united under the French Union. Under the new agreement, Viet Nam will have its own army but will permit basing of French troops in the country through a future agreement.

Obvious French hope is that the once abdicated Emperor Bao Dai can rally his old subjects to resist the anti-French Nationalists in August 1949 and fighting with French troops followed. Present state under President Ho Chi Minh is reportedly Communist controlled.

Under new agreement with France, Tonkin, Annam and Cochinchina will become United Viet Nam, an independent state within the French Union. Viet Nam was proclaimed independent by anti-French Nationalists in August 1945 and fighting with French troops followed. Present state under President Ho Chi Minh is reportedly Communist controlled.

LET'S LOOK AT THE FACTS ON REA'S ATTACK ON OUR COMPANY

On the night of June 14, at 10:15 P. M., over Radio Station WDAF at Kansas City, the West Central Electric Cooperative, of Higginsville, Missouri, sponsored a fifteen minute broadcast, attacking the "profit power companies" because they were attempting to block "the people's power" program.

Sam Greer, manager of the Co-op, was heard on this program, which stated that the Power Companies had interfered with and were attempting to stop the REA program, by charging "high rates" to co-operatives and keep the co-ops from bringing power to the farmers. He also charged that there was a power shortage and for that reason farmers could not secure adequate power.

Our company, one which furnishes power to Mr. Greer's Co-op, must be one at which the charges are aimed, as he identified himself as manager of, and spokesman for, that Co-op.

Such charges are ridiculous. For instance, one of Mr. Greer's Co-operative's customers used in May 80 kilowatt hours for which he paid the Co-operative $5.37. This company supplied Mr. Greer's Co-operative with this 80 kilowatt hours of energy and delivered to the co-op's lines, charged them 96¢. $4.41, then, represents profit to the co-op over our charges.

If, as has been unofficially stated in some quarters, Southwestern Power Authority plans to charge Mr. Greer's Co-operative 6 mills per kilowatt hour, and he passed all that saving on to his customers, he would be able to save them approximately 48¢ per month, which is little more than the cost of a couple of package of cigarettes. Had Missouri Public Service given the Co-op those 80 kilowatt hours free, the customer would still have been charged $4.41.

A shortage of electric power has many times been given as the reason for the unsatisfactory service given on some of the long, overloaded lines of REA. This is not true. Our company supplies ample power at the source and the REA's lines are the sole reason for poor service to the farmers. This company has never refused service to Mr. Greer's Co-operative or any other cooperative which has requested service from our lines and we have ample power facilities to add many more, and render good service.

It is true that this company opposes the spending of several millions or billions of dollars (of taxpayers money) by the Southwestern Power Authority to build lines in the same places where privately owned lines now exist, and can be used for the same purposes.

All the privately owned utility companies in the Southwest area signed a contract allowing the use of their lines to transmit electric energy from the government dams to places designated by the Southwestern Power Authority free of charge. Under that agreement the farmer will be charged the same price whether or not the SPA lines are built. The only difference then is should millions of dollars of taxpayers money be spent to construct new lines when the existing ones will do the job as well and at the same cost? Incidentally, the SPA people have not signed that contract.

Further expansion of the Southwestern Power Authority is a waste of money. The expansion is being fostered by bureaucrats in Washington for the specific purpose of putting privately operated power companies out of business. That has been, for many years, one of the main planks in the Socialist Party platform.

We believe that knowing the facts people in this area will want to advise their representatives and senators that the appropriation presently being asked for Southwestern Power Authority is a waste of the people's money and should not be granted.

By Charles Dunkley

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP) — Ezzard Charles, who wanted to be a ring champion ever since he started boxing at the age of 11, has realized his boxing ambition. Last night after 15 rounds of slugging his way to the top, the 27-year-old Cincinnati Negro won the NBA version of the world heavyweight title by decisively defeating Jersey Joe Walcott in a 15-round battle.

Charles won the unanimous decision of the three official and approval of the National Boxing Association. But now has to convince the New York Athletic commission, which is in a race as fast as a tournament among contenders and Massachusetts, which does not belong to the NBA. England too will have a champion of its own Sept. 8 when the Earl of Bess of Bessborough, 60, will fight the champion of the world, Joe Louis, in a 15-round bout for the crown.

The contest was fought in Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox, where 12,000 fans in the night Joe Louis won the championship by knocking out Jimmy Braddock.

The crowd of 25,392 paid $216,548.

Charles fought a cautious battle. He had his aging foe on the way to a knockout in three different rounds, but Joe possessed the ring generalship to escape a knockout. He backedpedaled and failed to fight in the closing rounds. Between the 12th and 13th Joseph T. J. chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, ordered Referee Dave Miller to tell Walcott's handlers to make him fight.

Walcott apparently fought only to remain on his feet until the finish.

Charles at 181½, gave away 13½ pounds to Walcott who scaled 195½.

The announcement of the unanimous verdict knocked Jake Mantz, one of Charles' four managers, into a complete faint. He collapsed in a neutral corner when Charles was proclaimed the new champion. He quickly recovered, however, and left the ring under his own power after a stretcher had been hustled in to carry him out.

Merchants Hold First Position

The Sedalia Merchants softball team gained possession of first place in the Central Missouri softball league Tuesday night by beating the Hannibal team 8-6 in a well played game on the Emma ball field. The Merchants have won three and lost one in the league's standing.

Norman Thompson, Sedalia pitcher, helped the cause along by three baggies with two on the bases. He was put out at home plate while trying for a home run. Thompson hit safely two other times, making it three out of four for his night's work.

The Sedalia got off to a 5-0 lead in the first and third innings, but Hannibal took advantage of some loose play by the Sedalia and tied the count 6-6 in the sixth inning.

Rocky Carver hit a long home run in the fourth for Sedalia. The winning margin was gained in the seventh, on a walk by Carver, doubled by Omar Sumner and a triple by Thompson.

The Merchants will play Hannibal in a practice game tonight at Hannibal.

B-J Chiefs Play Gormans Here Tonight

Imhauser, Sedalia Hurler Will Face Strong K. C. Team

The Gorman Ban John on baseball team of Kansas City comes to Sedalia tonight to meet the Sedalia Chiefs B-J team on the Liberty Park diamond. The game is called for 8:15 o'clock with two of the best Ban Johnson pitchers in the state opposing each other.

G. O. "Dutch" Hawley team manager announced he was using Joe Imhauser on the mound against the strong Kansas City aggregation, while the Gorman moundman is expected to be McCreedy one of the leading K. C. Ban Johnson hurlers.

Imhauser although having been in the losing end of several contests this season has been the victim of tough and close games, two of which were two hit ball games. In the past few weeks some shifting has brought about a stronger Chiefs team.

Gormans Among Top Teams

Gormans is among the top three teams in the Kansas City B-J league. Milgrams and Certified Outlets are all lunched together for the top honors of the league for the first half of the season.

Anything can happen in that league as to upsets.

Sunda night at Liberty Park the Chiefs will oppose the Certified Outlets, this game to start at 8:15 o'clock. Details of the contest will be announced Sunday morning.

Cal Rodgers of the Cal Rodgers Pontiac Motor Co., sponsor of the team, announced he was confident his club will win the league.

In the second half of the season with the lineup changes, and the players themselves better settled down to some hard ball playing. The team is anxious to meet the top Kansas City clubs at this time, he said, for an all-out effort at the end of the season.

Cardinals Pulled Game Out of Fire

Jones Collected 3 Hits to Help Defeat Giants 11-8

By Joe Reichler Associated Press Sports Writer

Quick now! who is the regular first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals?

The average baseball fan probably has to think twice before answering "Vernon (Nippy) Jones," but the 24-year-old son-of-a-brother is doing a bang-up job for Manager Eddie Dyer.

In the Cardinals' nine games since Brooklyn, Philadelphia and New York Jones has wrecked enemy pitching for 17 hits in 38 times at bat. He's driven in 17 runs and hoisted his season mark 41 points to a respectable 31.

Jones collected three hits last night to help the Cards defeat the Giants 11-8. The victory moved the Redbirds to within a half game of the first place Brooklyn Dodgers, who were defeated by the Reds in Cincinnati 4-3.

Dodgers Were Stopped

Cincinnati had to go 11 innings to defeat the Dodgers. Three successive singles by Pennant, Lowrey, Grady, Hutton and Walker capped the winning run after two were out. Pawel Blackwell pitching two and a third innings of relief, received credit for his first victory of the season.

A trio of homers by Herman Beck, Hank Sawyer and pitcher Dewey Adkins helped the last place Chicago Cubs outlast the Boston Braves, 9-8. Bob Mueller, one of the 10 pitchers used in the game, was credited with his first victory as a Cub.

Dino Restelli, rookie Pittsburgh outfielder, celebrated the end of his first week in the majors by blasting two homers, his fourth and fifth, to lead the Phillies to a 12-3 triumph over Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies. The victory moved the Phils to within a half game of the first place Yankees.

The luckless Browns suffered a damaging blow in injuries to third baseman Bob Dillinger and second baseman George Priddy. Dillinger tore a leg muscle sliding into third base and probably will be out of action for two weeks. Priddy will be sidelined for about a week with a sprained ankle suffered when he tripped on a hit to right field.

The Yankees received a scare from the cellar-dwelling Browns who whipped them, 5-1, in the opener. However, the Yankees came back to outscore the Browns 10-8 in the nightcap. In the other American League game, the Chicago White Sox, behind the steady hurling of southpaw Bill Wright, defeated the Senators in Washington, 4-1.

Home Broke 8-8 Tie

The Browns came within an eyelash of winning a doubleheader with the Yankees. They knocked out Vic Raschi, laboring the ace right-hander with 12 hits in less than six innings of the night.

Here's the Pitch—No. 4 Shortstop Diagnoses Hitters, And Signals Other Infielders

Written for NEA Service By LOU BOUDREAU Indians' Manager

Key man on the club, the shortstop makes more plays than anyone else.

The shortstop and second baseman often handle more than 1500 chances in a season.

They make the most important play, closing out an inning with a double play.

Among the many requirements of the clever shortstop is the ability to diagnose hitters.

Because he is in a perfect position to see the catcher's sign, the shortstop signals to the other infielders and to the outfielders if they desire letting them know what kind of a pitch is to be thrown.

The shortstop has to be careful not to hide the ball from a second baseman when holding a double-play ball. It should always be held in plain view, not on the side.

On sacrifice bunts, with the shortstop always covering, the play will be second, if possible, preventing the base runner from advancing. Many times the batter will bunt too hard, setting up a double play.

The shortstop plays deeper than any infielder, must come in fast.

His most difficult play is a hard-hit ball far to the right.

On an attempted steal, after seeing the catcher's sign, the shortstop makes the decision as to who will cover. He judges according to his knowledge of the batter, the pitcher and the type of pitch.

He always plays percentage. A fast ball to a right-hand hitter may mean the batter will swing and hitting to the second baseman. The shortstop will cover.

A slow or curve ball will probably be pulled toward shortstop or third base, so the second baseman will cover.

The shortstop plays his deepest with one out and the winning run on second base. He has to knock the ball down even if he can make no play, keep it from going into the outfield. The shortstop has to stop at third the batter at first. This sets up a double play which can end the inning.

Fielding slow bouncers that escape the pitcher, the shortstop moving in one direction at top speed must throw in another direction. The emphasis being on how hard he throws but on how quickly he can get the ball away.

The shortstop who can handle the ball and move it in one swift motion is the perfection of style.

Knights Win 4-3 In Extra Innings

The Knights of Columbus defeated Warsaw in a 11-County League softball game at Warsaw in a game which featured light pitching and brilliant play by a score of 4 to 3 in extra innings.

Both Cyamel for Sedalia and Hibdon for Warsaw pitched tight ball. Cyamel was relieved by Lysen in the seventh after Warsaw tied the score on a double and an error by LaVelle and he had then walked two men in the ninth inning. Wall singled, went to second on an infield out and scored to prove to be the winning run on a single by C. Weller.

In the Warsaw ninth, Warsaw drew two bases after two were out but Weller took over the mound duties for the Knights and scored the winning run in the fourth, scoring 4 runs after Warsaw had taken the lead by scoring 2 runs in their second inning.

Tonight the Knights play Green Ridge at Green Ridge in a non-league game and Friday night they journey to Stover for a regular league game. The Knights have now won three league games and lost two and are well over the 500 mark in games played.

Lions Defeat Rotarians In Unique Game

Score About 11-10 Turn At Pitching By Many Players

In one of the most unique baseball games ever played in Sedalia Pettis county or even the state of Missouri, the Sedalia Lions club defeated the Rotarians club by a score of approximately 11 to 10. The contest was played on the Smith-Cotton diamond at 6:10 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The game was called at the end of six innings, apparently on the assumption that if a team was beaten for two thirds of a ball game, a safe law of averages would indicate that it would be beaten in the last three innings also. A Rotary club spokesman explained that the Lions club got ten many runs in the fifth, and the Rotarians not enough in the second.

Who asked who pitched the game? The Rotarians, with Jack Pasley piloting the Lions in order to be certain that there would be no foul play or favoritism which might give either team a deciding edge in a short fight contest, Roland Linder, a Kiwanite, was umpire. Guy Peabody handled the brain work as official scorekeeper.

Owls Win 10 Straight Games

By The Associated Press

The Miami Owls have ten in a row today—they won their 10th straight K-O-M League game last night.
 The Miami victory was part of a "get-tough-with-the-first-division-night" in the league.
 Miami's victory came at the expense of second-place Iola, 5-4.
 Bartlesville won from first place Independence, 9-6.
 And Ponca City slipped from third to fourth place by dropping an 11-10 contest at Chanute.
 Carthage, the only first division team to win, scored four times in the eighth to take Pittsburg 6-3.
 The Carthage victory marked the eighth victory against two losses for Woody Wuetrich, Cubs' pitcher. He pitched a five-hitter, four of the safeties coming in the last three innings. He struck out 13.
 Dick Butler went the route for Miami with a seven-hitter. Duane Melvin tripped in two Miami runs in the fourth, then scored on a passed ball.
 Tonight's schedule: Pittsburg at Carthage, Independence at Bartlesville, Ponca City at Chanute, Iola at Miami.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, June 23—An important, backstage battle has broken out between two of the nation's highest-ranking generals—Douglas MacArthur and Chief of Staff Omar Bradley. General Bradley wants to withdraw American forces from all the Pacific except Japan and Hawaii. Even out of the Philippines in case of war, Bradley argues that American forces caught in the Pacific outside Japan or Hawaii would be immediately sacrificed in another Bataan. Therefore, he wants all troops withdrawn to positions we can maintain.

General MacArthur, on the other hand, wants American troops strung out around the Pacific to create spheres of influence to stem the spread of Communism. MacArthur is definitely opposed to withdrawing American troops from the Philippines and South Korea.

The tone of his cables has become so strong that mid-mannered General Bradley has been forced to remind him that he, Bradley, not MacArthur, is the Chief of Staff.

Dan Tobin's Warning

Dan Tobin, head of the powerful Teamsters Union, has sent a confidential letter to all Teamsters, locals cautioning against strikes and urging a conciliatory policy toward employers. Tobin, intimate friend of the late President Roosevelt and a longtime power in the A. F. and L., started his letter by saying that he was fearful of today's economic situation and cautioned his locals against pushing good employers for wage increases.

Tobin commented at some length on the foolishness of the Ford strike at this time. He recognized that Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, was under compulsion from union membership, but said that Reuther would have been wiser to have ruled the situation with an iron hand and forbidden the strike.

Referring to his own union, Tobin was critical of the West Coast Teamsters' strike and also of the Teamsters in New York City. In the latter city bakery drivers had struck for an unwarranted increase, on the assumption that people had to eat bread so there must be bread deliveries. But with the strike many weeks old, consumers get along by buying from chain stores and independent bakeries, Tobin said.

Communists' agitation inside labor unions also came in for criticism from the forthright Communist leadership in one Teamsters' local—which he declined to name. An investigation was being made, said Tobin, and these agitators would be fired from the union whether they signed non-communist affidavits or not.

Tobin also warned his Teamsters that one trouble in union organizations was the inability and unwillingness of rank-and-file members to understand economic laws. He pointed out that while members of his union are unskilled, they receive annual returns higher than bricklayers, plasterers and skilled mechanics because of the fact that the latter suffer seasonal layoffs.

Thoughtful President

A group of Four-H club youngsters waited on the White House portico to see the President while representatives Robert Secrest and Earl T. Wagner were inside presenting him with a petition from the Ohio congressional delegation to name George Rogers and SEC attorney, to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

"I'm going to be photographed with those young people in the rose garden outside," said Truman.

"Don't let us detain you, Mr. President," urged Secrest.

Just then a sudden cloudburst tattooed the windows of the President's office.

"Stick around," he told his callers. "If I take those kids out in the rain to be photographed, their fathers and mothers will be after me."

Anti-Highway Lobby

Congress is now probing the fact that the toll industry, which owes its prosperity to the gasoline burned on highways, is so shortsighted that it opposes new highways. Reason: to pay for the roads, many states are boosting gasoline taxes.

The extra taxes aren't paid by the oil companies, but by motorists. Yet the industry has already boosted "gas" prices so high they fear the public won't stand for both higher prices and higher taxes.

So, believe it or not, the oil lobby is actually fighting against building new roads.

Take North Carolina, for example: Gov. Kerr Scott, a hard-hitting liberal, submitted a $200,000,000 road program to the voters. To finance it, he proposed a one-cent-per-gallon increase in the state gasoline tax. The oil lobby immediately and bitterly opposed, appealed to city voters to block the program.

When the vote finally came, city people did vote 5-1 against new rural roads. But the farmers annexed 225,000 votes to the urban voters' 170.

Meanwhile, in the rest of the nation, highways are in worse general condition than at any time since the depression. Yet the oil lobby continues to oppose new roads.

But here are the statistics: Since 1945, the number of automobiles on the highways has increased by 10,500,000. Of these, 2,500,000 are trucks. All told, 100,000,000,000 ton miles were traveled in 1948, almost double the 1945 traffic. Yet only a paltry few million dollars have been added to the road bill. Because of inflation, even this increase in dollars really had been a decrease in purchasing power when it came to road building.

Result has been wear-and-tear on automobiles, irritating traffic snarls, and an increase in freight deaths. What the public doesn't realize is that safety can be built into roads.

Yet the public, while paying more for automobiles and gasoline, has let the highways run down.

Peron Expels Opponents

The inside story of how the leader of President Peron's opposition party was kicked out of the Argentine Congress would be quite funny if it didn't represent another body blow at democracy in the Americas.

Last July, Peron's stooges in the Argentine Chamber of Deputies, who have a two-thirds majority, voted to expel radical party leader Ernesto Sammartino on the grounds that he had "defamed" the dictator. With his parliamentary immunity removed, Sammartino was then chased by the federal cops—but escaped to Uruguay, where he has been ever since.

Last month the second opposition leader was given the bum's rush. This time Sammartino's successor, Agustin Rodriguez Araya, was expelled from Congress on instructions from Dona Evita Peron who more and more is becoming the real boss of Argentine politics.

Like Sammartino, Rodriguez Araya never hesitated to name names, facts and figures when attacking the administration on the chamber floor. Nevertheless, Peron himself did not favor any direct action against Rodriguez Araya, figuring that the persecution of Sammartino may have been

Cox and Sabath Make Up

Representatives E. E. Cox (D-Ga.) (left) and Adolph J. Sabath (D-Ill.) shake hands in a committee room reconciliation a short time after their fist fight on the house floor. According to Representative Walter D. Pae, an eyewitness to the incident on the house floor, Cox (69) slapped Sabath (33) during an argument over speaking time on housing legislation, following which Sabath countered with fast left and right blows to Cox's face. (AP Wirephoto) partly responsible for a sharp upturn in radical votes during the recent provincial elections.

But no such strategic considerations bothered Senator Peron. She had been out to get Rodriguez Araya for two years, ever since he publicly lampooned some of the first lady's more flamboyant antics while touring Europe in 1947. In fact, the then leader of Peron's majority which brought her to power, the government issued some pious pronouncements about "freedom" and "democracy." Next day, on the floor of the chamber Rodriguez Araya laid into these declarations with bitter sarcasm.

Evita Peron Gives Orders

In a matter of hours, word came to Peronist congressional chiefs from Dona Evita's office that "this is it"—the long-awaited moment of revenge had arrived.

And this time, the yes-men knew better than to say no. The expulsion motion reached a vote, Rodriguez Araya knew the outcome was cut and dried. So he quietly left the chamber and went to the Uruguayan embassy, where he requested and received asylum.

Robert MacEwen, Uruguayan ambassador to Argentina, at once took a plane for Montevideo to consult President Luis Batlle Barres regarding his controversial guest. Meanwhile, the Chamber of Deputies, having voted on a strict majority-minority basis—107-42—to throw Rodriguez out, approved by the same margin motion to institute criminal libel proceedings against the ex-deputy.

Thereupon the Argentine foreign minister advised the Uruguayan embassy that Rodriguez Araya was subject to arrest and consequently "not entitled to asylum." Less than an hour later, however, word came from Montevideo that Uruguayan President Batlle would insist on a safe conduct for the political refugee.

Seeing their bluff called, the tough-talking Peronistas hastily backed down. A communique issued by the foreign ministry called the whole thing a "misunderstanding," said that Rodriguez Araya could "remain in Argentina or leave, at a free mind." The latter promptly made his choice and flew to Montevideo.

The government-owned press next morning ridiculed the entire affair as a "comic opera." Evita's personal mouthpiece, "Democracia," commented:

"Democratic critics would have a hard time deciding whether whether Rodriguez Araya or Uruguayan Ambassador MacEwen is the better comedian."

More impartial observers inclined toward the opinion that the laugh, if any, was strictly on Peron and Co. The total implications of this new attempt to democratic procedure, however, tended to overshadow its humorous side. (Copyright, 1949, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

"DON'T come any closer to me," George said. "I'm willing to talk it over, but keep your distance."

Bea started walking again. "How do you figure it was my gun?"

Bascombe relaxed. "I was watching you when Fred went into his song and dance about being a second-hand automatic the last minute before we sailed. You knew he was lying. It showed on your face. I knew he was lying, because I was with him every minute for days before we were ready to sail. The only way you could have known he was lying was by knowing something about the gun. It must have been yours."

"You couldn't let well enough alone. Oh, you pretended not to be satisfied, but that was a cover for the snooping you felt you had to do to make sure there weren't loose ends that you were in the clear," George shook his head. "It was a good act, but it didn't

Ham bath in rice ring put leftover ham to work.

"My motive," Bea went on. "What reason could I have for killing Lily Warren?"

"YOU know better than I do," he insisted. "But her death was too pat, too timely, for suicide. Especially when she'd made a deal with Fred to help shake Harding down."

"That was the night before she was killed?"

"Yes. It was quite late when she came to our hut. She was a little drunk, and had some more with us. I guess Harding had already told her off because she was sore as hell. We'd salvaged some of the cameras and some film that was packed well enough so it wasn't damaged. Lily declared herself to be on the deal. She said Harding might not be willing to marry her, but she could still get him into position for pictures. Fred thought she could help a lot."

"And I found out about it and killed her to protect Harding?"

"Not Harding," Bascombe said. "I know you don't like him. No, I'd say you did it to protect yourself, so you could go on with your own plans."

"While I was at it then," Bea said, "I should have finished off the four of you too."

George looked her seriously. "That's what's been worrying me lately. I've been expecting you to try something else. That's why I'm talking like this to you. I want you to know I don't care what happened to Lily Warren. Neither Nona nor I will ever give you away. Provided you leave us alone."

Bea Cosgrove laughed, and the sound infuriated the man. "I mean it! You harm Nona in any way and I'll pay you back."

"Oh keep still," Bea said. "You're either making all this up or you're so involved in your emotions and sloppy thinking you couldn't see the sun on a bright day. Do you think you could answer a question without beating your chest in defense of Nona?"

"What is it?" George asked huffily.

"Have you told Mollie you suspected me?"

"No. I wouldn't tell her the time of day."

"Mollie and Sillwell are pals again. Why?"

"Why don't you ask Fred? You might have noticed he and I aren't on the best of terms."

SUE disregarded his sarcasm. "Yesterday Fred and Mollie weren't pals either. Until she came to see him last night. She brought a couple of bottles. I was watching the sea, down near Fisherman's Cove when the sun broke through. I saw it then. The Simpatoco."

"Impossible," Harding snapped. "It couldn't be the Simpatoco. She isn't due for a long time yet. Maybe another fishing boat."

"I saw it clearly," Agnes insisted. "I tell you I saw it just as plain as could be. I could make out it was damaged. Part of the railing at the stern was broken."

Henry Harding stopped the rush. "What could you see now? It's getting dark. And the surf's still too high to let anyone land. If this wind holds, the surf'll be down by tomorrow."

"They all returned unwillingly to the shelter."

"We might as well eat," Mabel said.

"Wait a minute," Sillwell ordered. "This calls for a real celebration. A real drink all round." He pulled bottles from the case he and Mollie had been working on. There were enough to go around. "Open them up," Sillwell said. "I'll give you a toast." He waited a moment and then raised his bottle in mock salute to Harding. "Here's to our deliverance from Spence Island and to the pleasant future."

Henry Harding stared at his bottle. He alone made no move to drink.

No matter how willing to give, a woman must have some reciprocity or she was drained and twisted. In her desperate need she had tried to make Jim something he was not, under a cover of thinking of his welfare. She had sought vengeance for her future and hurt, not Jim's.

Bea tripped, fell heavily and realized she had been running. It was too late for running now. There was no place to run, no place to hide.

Now, at a time when she longed for a high, hot bath, the odor of violets, the smoothness of silk against her skin and deference and politeness from a man, she had to face the result of a pattern of actions in which she had played a part. She thought of Miguel Oak's broad shoulders, his understanding smile, the strength she needed.

She put such thoughts away and hurried on to face what she knew must come.

At the entrance of the Cave of the Grapes, she hesitated. She listened to the panting, which had frightened her on that day which now seemed so long ago. She made herself go inside, moved cautiously until she found the flashlight in the same place. The light helped.

BEA COSGROVE felt closer to Spence Island than ever before. The present makeshift quarters did that. She had not realized before how confined the life had been.

"Nona McGuire and George have been off together all day long," Agnes said puttily. "I haven't anyone but you to talk to now." She looked strangely at Bea. "Why don't you come right out and say you think I'm jealous?"

"I didn't intend saying anything," Bea said.

"Why not? It's true enough, I suppose. It's the way things always happen to me. I thought I'd found a real lasting friend in Nona. Then all of a sudden she and that George Huescombe have to be close to each other all the time. Have to keep touching each other, whispering and wondering away together."

"I don't think it's something sudden."

Agnes paid no attention. "Why couldn't he have stayed with that Mollie Stark? She's his sort. They belong together. He shouldn't be with someone like Nona. And the way she looks at him! Well, I guess I don't care if she wants to be like that. I don't need her! I can stay on Spence Island with Mabel."

"Mrs. Jones asked you to stay?"

"Does that surprise you?" Agnes demanded. "You mean you don't think anyone would want me?" She stopped, drew in a deep breath and made one of her quick changes. "I'm a fool. I'm sorry."

"Even if Nona is in love with George, I don't see any reason you two can't still be friends," Bea said.

"You mean you don't think she is?"

"I don't know. I meant you could still be friends."

"No," Agnes said thoughtfully. "It wouldn't work. I don't trust George. I'm afraid, Bea. There's something I haven't told anyone. I can tell you because I know you don't think Lily Warren killed herself."

"What makes you think that?"

AGNES shrugged the question away, went on with her own line of thought. "You remember during the court, Harding said he'd had to fix up Mollie Stark's leg? Something had pulled from her legging about in bed, he said."

"I remember," Bea repeated.
